

Renewal Funding For SST Enormous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American supersonic transport program, given a new chance for life by a close House vote, may need $500 million to $1 billion to get going again, in the view of William M. Allen, chairman of the board of the Boeing Co.

Allen also told a Washington news conference today there would be a delay of about a year in the production program, over what had been planned initially.

Allen emphasized that he was very much in favor of continuation of the SST program, but said realities must be faced.

He said Boeing has had to terminate its subcontracts and disperse a large part of the team that has been working on the airplane.

Boeing has committed itself already as far as it can go, or really farther than would be justified, he said.

The Senate Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, said he will not bring the bill containing the SST funds before the Senate until the draft extension debate is completed—probably sometime in June—unless an agreement can be reached "to handle it in a limited time."

Turning a congressional death warrant inside out, House backers of federal subsidies for the faster-than-sound, passenger plane engineered a 201-197 loophole victory Wednesday hailed by President Nixon and denounced by critics as a "travesty of the legislative process."

Spokesmen for the aerospace contractors that have built and fought for the SST project were quick to say any renewal of the work would be expensive, that all contracts would have to be renegotiated and that in their view the goal would have to be changed from mere prototype development to actual SST commercial production.

"Our strategy will be to try and beat it, beat it up and down," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. He declared to newsmen he will use any tactic under the Senate rules to kill the project—not ruling out talking it to death.

He said the original objections still stand: the SST is too costly, it is something that should be left to private industry, it is not practical and it threatens the environment.

"Minds have been changed in the last two months," said Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., who has fought to keep alive the SST, which was being built in his state.

His home state colleague, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, also a Democrat, said these factors were the mind changers: a strong reaction across the nation to rising unemployment, the current dollar crisis overseas and the continued effort of the British-French builders of the Concorde SST.

The issue, thought dead earlier in the year following defeats in both congressional chambers, was raised again when House SST backers, in an amendment to a supplemental appropriations bill, rewrote a section providing $85 million to terminate SST contracts. Their new language earmarked the money to restart the program.

The decision, reversing the House's 215-204 anti-SST vote eight weeks ago, tossed the controversy back to the Senate, giving another turn to a Capitol Hill saga in which the SST already has had far many more perils than the fabled Pauline.

The Senate last March nailed down the earlier House decision in a 51-46 vote.

Spokesmen for the Boeing Corp. and General Electric, the two prime SST contractors under now canceled contracts, said the whole situation will have to be rethought.

"Any proposal to go forward on an SST program would involve very substantial financial commitments beyond $85 million," a Boeing spokesman said.

A new start and a new contract should consider not only completion of two prototypes "but the construction of production aircraft as well," the spokesman said.

Such a step would change the rules of the SST game as it has been played in Congress up to now.

Under the old contracts the government was committed only through the development of the prototypes.

Proxmire called Wednesday for renewed help from the national coalition of environmental and conservation groups that conducted the successful lobbying effort widely credited in earlier curbing the project.

No Pollution Money

Revive Sewage Funds

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Senate voted today to restore $6.5 million to match local and federal funds for sewage disposal projects.

The vote putting back the same amount approved by the House was 19-14.

The Senate Appropriations Committee had followed Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' recommendation not to include any money at this time for water pollution control matching funds. The governor instead had endorsed a $150 million bond issue which still is pending in the House.

Sen. Jasper M. Brancato, D-Kansas City, and several other senators, sponsored the $6.5 million amendment representing the first big break from the Senate Appropriations Committee's austerity recommendations.

He said if the money is not approved by June 15, the state would lose about $18 million in federal matching funds for projects now ready to be built.

Under present law, local communities put up 20 per cent of the money for a sewage plant, the state 25 per cent and the federal government 55 per cent.

Without state matching help, Sen. Jack Gant, D-Independence, said no city could afford to put up the 70 per cent which then would be required.

Earlier the Senate adopted a committee recommendation that $330,670 be restored to the bill for the state's share of supplying surplus commodities in 39 counties which help pay the cost of the program. Some counties get surplus food free, with all costs provided by the federal government.

A lump sum appropriation for mental health forced the Senate into its first night session of the year Wednesday.

The Senate got into lengthy debate over a Senate committee recommendation which gave the Mental Health Division a block appropriation instead of specifying how $77.7 million would be spent next year.

But the Senate committee substitute was finally passed 24-5 and will go back to the House with the Senate changes.

At one point, Sen. Edward T. Linehan, D-St. Louis, tried to get the measure sent to the Senate Appropriations Committee for reconsideration. He recommended the committee conform to the House bill in stating how funds would be spent.

Sen. Donald Manford, D-Kansas City, appropriations chairman, said the committee felt a requirement that the director must submit a month by month budget for the coming year to the state Fiscal Affairs Committee would safeguard legislative intent. Seven senators serve on that committee.

The motion to provide individual allotments to all mental institutions was defeated 12-17 despite charges the Senate would lose control over expenditures of state agencies and attacks against the present director of the division, Dr. George Ulett.

Linehan said the issue boiled down to "voting on the integrity of one man."

Granting the division the lump sum amounts to "delegating its legislative authority to a doctor," he said.

Sen. Richard Webster, R-Carthage, a member of the appropriations committee, said it was the committee's choice to grant the division a lump sum to keep expenditures down.

HEW Investigators

Leonard Hamilton, left, Cleveland, Ohio, and John Wodatch, right, Washington, met with Dr. T. J. Norris, center, while on an inspection tour of Sedalia's public schools. Both men are associated with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which has filed segregation charges against the local school system. (Democrat-Capitol Photo)

Re-evaluate Schools Here

A two-man investigating team from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's division of civil rights will complete a two-day inspection of Sedalia's public school system today.

Leonard Hamilton, Cleveland, Ohio, and John Wodatch, Washington, are here to re-evaluate the school system following charges of segregation filed earlier this year.

Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of schools, reported earlier that he understood an "independent" team of investigators would be here.

"One of the men who is here now (Hamilton) was here before," Norris said. An HEW investigation team studied the school system last October and filed its report, after which the segregation allegations were made.

Specifically, HEW claims that the Sedalia school system is guilty of assigning students and teachers on a racial basis.

Both charges have been denied by the Board of Education through its attorney, William F. Brown.

HEW also said that unless the school system was desegregated legal action might be taken and federal funds would be cut off. The school system has already felt the pinch of the freeze on funds.

An application for a federal grant to finance a program to detect children with learning disabilities before they enter elementary school has not been honored.

Following a series of letters, a hearing was set for May 26 in Kansas City. Dr. Norris and Brown will represent the Board of Education. One source indicated the meeting would be open to the public.

Thursday Norris reported that as far as he knew, the two HEW investigators who are here now had visited Hubbard and Whittier Schools.

He said he did not know what progress had been made or what conclusions were being drawn.

Concerning the May 26 hearing, Norris said, "I don't know what bearing this visit will have on it. I assume that the two main charges will be discussed."

Norris also indicated that the findings of the original HEW survey would be the focal point of the hearing, rather than the latest survey results.

House

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House refused today to take up a sales tax increase bill Monday as a special order of business.

The vote rejecting the move of majority leader Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, was 57-82.

The measure has been lobbied by Mayor A. J. Cervantes of St. Louis and other municipal leaders as a way out of the fiscal crises now faced by many Missouri cities.

It would increase the sales tax from 3 cents on each dollar of retail sales to 5 cents and rebate the increased revenue to cities and counties.

It would also eliminate many of the present items exempt from the sales tax, including automobile parts, railroad rolling stock or aircraft, machinery used in manufacturing or mining, breeding animals or poultry, newsprint, film or record rental, pipeline pumping equipment, electrical energy used in major manufacturing and others.

Cervantes was in Jefferson City last week trying to get support for moving the bill up on the cluttered House calendar. It now is down the list about 235, almost certainly blocking its consideration this year.

The House did agree to consider bills Monday that would:

Provide for interstate compacts on pest control, down about 110 bills on the calendar.

Provide for subdistricts for the election of trustees in a junior college district, down about 137 bills on the calendar.

Bar national banks from taking tax credit for tangible personal property they hold, down about 130 bills.

Make Jan. 15 "doctor Martin Luther King" day but not a state holiday, down about 112 bills.

Permit public employees to organize and negotiate wages and hours, down about 170 bills.

Armed Robber Takes Gems, Car in Theft

Over $3,000 in cash and jewelry and a 1969 Cadillac were stolen in an armed robbery at Henry's Cafe, in the 200 block on North Lamine, around 9:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Tate Baker, Marshall, reported to police later that his car was taken and cash and jewelry were taken from three other men, who were sitting in the cafe with him, by a lone bandit armed with a .38 caliber revolver.

Taken from Walter H. Murphy, 210 North Washington, was a diamond ring, another gold and diamond ring and $307 in cash.

Yancey L. Bolton, Waynesville, had a diamond ring, a diamond watch and $200 in cash taken. Garland L. Fowler, Waynesville, was relieved of a diamond ring and $65 in cash by the holdup man.

According to statements made by the four men, an unidentified man came to their table, pointed a gun at them and told them to put their cash and jewelry in a paper bag.

After the money and jewelry had been stuffed into the sack, the holdup man forced all four of the victims to strip.

On his way out the door the holdup man allegedly fired a shot into the floor of the cafe. When he reached the street, the bandit drove away in Baker's car.

Police say they have several good leads in the case.

Will Explain Plans At Public Meeting

(Democrat-Capitol Service)

KANSAS CITY — The Missouri State Highway Commission will explain the location and effects of a road improvement project north of Dresden at a public meeting at the Pettis County Courthouse May 26.

The road will lead to the location of the U.S. Army Safeguard System Command's proposed Missile Site Radar near Hughesville.

The road will begin southwest of Dresden and extend north, crossing Highway 50, and continue for about 0.9 mile near Route T.

It will then run along Route T for about 2 miles to an east-west county road, go east for about 0.6 mile to a north-south county road and then north again for about 1.2 mile to the MSR site.

The total distance of the project will cover about 4.5 miles, the commission said.

Maps, plats and other detailed information prepared by the Missouri State Highway Department is available for public inspection at the commission's District 4 office in Kansas City.

Residents in the area are asked to express their views concerning the proposed improvements. "Any written statement or exhibit submitted ... up to two days before the hearing will be made available for public inspection and copying at the hearing," the commission said.

The meeting will be held in the Assembly Room and begins at 7:30 p.m.

Must Meet Demand

FTC Is Putting Clamp on Grocery Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has ruled a grocery store advertising sales must have enough goods on hand to meet reasonable demand at the special price.

A grocery chain may not use such disclaimers as "not all items available in all stores" to get around the ruling, the FTC held Wednesday. And providing "rain checks" for later use at sale prices will not meet the test.

The regulation is effective July 12.

The commission said in the future it plans to apply the same principle to other advertised commodities, apparently meaning the ruling will be extended to such businesses as department, drug and hardware stores.

"What we're looking for," said Robert Pitofsky, director of the FTC Bureau of Consumer Protection, "is a store that systematically advertises a product and then consistently doesn't have the product on the shelves at the advertised price."

Failure to abide by the new rule could be punishable as an unfair trade practice and subject the offender to civil penalties.

The ruling arises from a 1967-68 study of 137 stores operated by 10 grocery chains in San Francisco and Washington.

Eleven per cent of advertised items were not available in most stores, the study showed, and only eight of the 137 outlets checked had every advertised item.

Fewer advertised products were available in low-income areas than in wealthier sections. And nearly 10 per cent of the specials were marked at prices above those in the sales advertisements.

The FTC said the new rule excuses a retailer if demand for advertised specials exceeds reasonable expectations, or if he can prove the stock was unavailable through no fault of his own.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Nervousness a Symptom With Numerous Causes

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am 16 years old and have a small question. My hands shake constantly from nervousness. I am always arguing with my friends and family. There is a constant push for better marks from my parents because I go to a private school. I am becoming concerned about my shaking hands. I don't want to see a doctor because my parents would have to know. Is there a product that works to stop constant nervousness?

Dear Reader — Nervousness is a symptom. You have suggested some causes for your problem, particularly for the pressure to make good marks in school. There is no way that you can be properly treated without professional help, which means you will have to see a doctor.

Perhaps the first step in resolving your difficulty would be to discuss it frankly with your parents. Problems in communications between people who live together or have close emotional ties are a frequent cause of nervousness. The best treatment for this is talking out the problem.

Certain habits, like excessive use of coffee, cola drinks and cigarettes, increase nervousness. Some diseases do, also, like an overactive thyroid gland which can cause shaking of the hands as well. Individuals with overactive thyroid glands are usually excessively emotional and sensitive to life's stresses. Finally there is nervousness associated with emotional problems (very frequent in students) and even disorders of the nervous system. Nervousness is not something that you can resolve by taking a pill without understanding the cause.

You should not be ashamed about being nervous. It may well be a symptom of a medical problem that needs attention. In any case, it is a problem which affects your health and happiness. It is certainly worthy of your parents' attention and interest and justifies a visit to your doctor.

Dear Dr. Lamb — When a doctor puts a person on a reducing diet, doesn't the diet require a certain amount of water? My husband said he has never heard of a diet including water, that you can go on any diet and leave water out and still lose weight.

Dear Reader — Water has no calories. Regardless of how much water you drink, it will have no effect on the fat stores in your body. Water can affect body weight.

Some doctors ask their patients to drink water to help fill up the digestive tract and hopefully decrease the appetite. If you limit sufficiently the amount of calories in the diet, whether you drink water or not, you will still lose weight.

False Mustaches Don't Aid Bandit

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Three false mustaches failed to deter a trio of witnesses in the bank robbery trial of William Wray Matthews.

The FBI contended that Matthews, 33, wore a mustache the day the Richmond branch bank was robbed of more than $8,000, and that he shaved it off the next day.

To test the witnesses, U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. ordered Matthews, a deputy marshal and a U.S. attorney to don false mustaches and sit in the spectator area of the courtroom.

All three witnesses picked out Matthews, mustache and all, and a few minutes later he changed his plea from innocent to guilty of bank larceny. Merhige sentenced Matthews to eight years in prison.

Art Purchase

The Metropolitan Museum has acquired one of the world's greatest paintings, Diego Velasquez' 1650 portrait of his mulatto assistant, which was auctioned in London last November for more than $5.5 million, it was announced this week. The museum director said the painting was "a most important acquisition—possibly the most important in our history." (UPI)

Agriculture Department Backing Food Stamp Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department insists its proposed regulations to implement the 1970 Food Stamp Reform Act will make more persons eligible, as congressional sponsors intended.

The department has received 124 letters of protest, however, many echoing congressional complaints that a uniform standard of income eligibility would remove a large number of welfare recipients now eligible to buy food stamps under state standards.

Richard Lyng, assistant secretary of agriculture, conceded 350,000 persons now eligible for stamps, mostly in one and two-person households approaching the maximum monthly income limit would receive reduced benefits.

At the same time, Lyng estimated 1.7 million persons in states with lower income ceilings would become eligible.

About 10.6 million persons now receive food stamps.

Under the new regulations, subject to revision after review of public comments, a family of four with combined total income up to $360 a month would be eligible.

Only Alaska, New Jersey and New York have lower cut off levels.

The proposed income scale, however, is more restrictive on one and two-person households. For example, California now cuts off one person at $185 a month income and two persons at $240. The proposed new national maximum is $160 and $210, respectively.

The definition of a household also is being challenged in a letter from the six Republican members of the special Senate Nutrition Committee. They complained the Agriculture Department misinterpreted a provision of the law admittedly designed to disqualify so-called hippie communes.

Department officials say the regulation follows the law's definition of a household as "a group of related individuals."

The senators quoted Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, as saying the provision was "designed to exclude households consisting of unrelated individuals under the age of 60, such as hippie communes."

They said the regulation would exclude families "who might have taken in a friend."

A judo tournament is scheduled to be held throughout the day.

Visitors will be directed to the parking area when they enter any of the three base gates.

Proxmire Blasts Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposal to grant $250 million in federal loan guarantees to the tottering Lockheed Aircraft Corp. "is bad economics, bad public policy and bad news for the American taxpayer," says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Proxmire, one of the most powerful foes of government spending policies, commented in advance of introduction today of an administration bill providing the guarantees. He challenged the White House to produce a "single reputable economist in support of the proposed bail-out."

"The argument that it is necessary to bail out Lockheed in order to prevent widespread unemployment and general economic collapse has no merit," the senator added in a prepared statement.

"A Lockheed bankruptcy would not mean the loss of thousands of jobs," Proxmire said. "Most of their work, especially their defense contracts, would go on."

"What it means is a change in management which is long overdue."

The administration bill, which the Senate Banking Committee is expected to start considering next week, contains some tight restrictions on how the $250 million can be spent but says nothing about management.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., told a news conference Wednesday he would introduce an amendment requiring Lockheed's 14 directors, five of them executives of the company, to step down.

Rat Control Curbs Being Reconsidered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yielding to congressional criticism, the Nixon administration has backed down on its plan to crop the nation's rat control program.

Ron Coene, assistant director of the Bureau of Community Environmental Management, said the administration agreed Wednesday to restore the $15 million program for fiscal 1972.

Asked if congressional pressure forced the reversal, a high official in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said "That would be a proper conclusion."

"The administration line is that they have re-evaluated it," added the official, who asked not to be named. "They have decided there is justification for the program."

The program was quietly dropped without explanation in the initial HEW budget request. Freshman Rep. Paul S. Sarbanes, D-Md., called the decision unconscionable.

Several members of Congress joined in the protest, including Sens. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, and Allen Ellender, D-La., and Reps. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., and Edward Hebert, D-La.

The program is under way in several cities, including Baltimore, New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Cleveland, Milwaukee and Seattle.

Besides extermination, the program emphasizes destroying breeding places such as abandoned buildings and trash heaps, and educating citizens on the problem.

A recent report disclosed a 33 per cent decrease in "active exterior rat signs" where the program had been in effect between 1969 and 1970.

The five-year Baltimore program covers nearly half of the port city.

Confessions Clear Seven Murder Cases

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Authorities in San Francisco say alleged confessions by Merle R. Sturdivan, 35, accused in the slaying of a Prairie Village, Kan. doctor, have apparently cleared a homicide in their city.

Sturdivan was picked up in Kansas City following the slaying of Dr. Samuel Chapman, May 5. He allegedly confessed to police seven other slayings.

Florida officials say they have cleared three slayings in Miami and Tampa from the confessions.

Other slayings being investigated are in New Orleans and Houston.

Command Reports Deaths

SAIGON (AP) — More than 22,000 Americans have died in combat in the Indochina war since the Paris peace talks started exactly three years ago, a compilation of official U.S. casualty reports showed today.

The total included 34 deaths announced today by the U.S. Command in its casualty summary, for last week. It was the lowest weekly figure in three months.

This brought the three-year total to 22,170 as of midnight last Saturday, almost half of the 45,121 American battle deaths for the more than 10 years that the United States has been involved in the Vietnam conflict.

Since Saturday midnight, there have been other U.S. servicemen killed, but these figures will not be announced until next week's casualty summary.

A compilation of South Vietnamese casualties on the third anniversary of the Paris talks showed 51,722 Saigon troops have been killed since the talks began May 13, 1968.

In the same period, the allies claim they killed 394,659 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops. The U.S. Command's report of 34 deaths last week was the lowest since the first week of February when 24 Americans died in action.

The command said 221 Americans were wounded last week, a sharp drop from the 592 reported wounded in the previous week and the lowest figure in three weeks.

Only four deaths were listed last week from non-hostile causes such as accidents and illness, an unusually small number compared with the recent average of about 20 such deaths each week.

The latest figures brought the U.S. totals for the war—from Jan. 1, 1961—to 45,121 combat deaths, 299,102 wounded in action and 9,510 deaths from non-hostile causes.

President Welcomed

Davis Returns Following Tour of Foreign Schools

Faculty and students gathered at the Student Union at State Fair Community College Wednesday night to confront their president, Fred Davis.

The confrontation, unlike some occurring on college campuses recently, was organized to welcome Davis who had just returned home from an educational study in Europe.

The surprise party, organized by the SFCC Roadrunner Rooters pep club, featured entertainment, refreshments and decorations. President of the club is Lois Christal, and vice-president is Jan King. Assisting with the party was Mrs. Dolores Gerlecz, Davis' secretary.

Special solos were sung by Nancy Richwine and Mike Fiene. A selection from the "Unsinkable Molly Brown" was given by Pam Koetting. Accompanists were Miss Joan Baker and Nancy Richey.

Davis, one of 28 college educators selected for the tour, was the only Missouri representative. He was nominated by former commissioner of education, Hubert Wheeler, and the group was sponsored by the American Association of School Administrators.

"The purpose of this trip," Davis said, "was to study the educational school systems in Germany, Denmark and Austria."

Prisoners Will Work On Grounds

A request by W. C. Askew, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, for prison laborers has been approved and 20 inmates from the Fordland Honor Camp will arrive here Monday.

Askew said that another ten prisoners would arrive about 20 days later after work projects by the State Park Board are completed.

He reported that three guards would be assigned to the 20 men who will arrive Monday, with another guard to come with the other ten prisoners. The inmates will be housed in the Youth Building.

At no time, Askew said, would the prisoners leave the fairgrounds without guards. The prisoners' primary duty will be maintenance of the grounds, Askew said.

He indicated the men would be here until the Fair in August. This is the second year that Askew has received a prison labor force. He estimated that last year using prisoners saved the state about $20,000.

Fordland Honor Camp houses about 200 inmates and is located south of Springfield.

First Class Mail Hike Announced

Temporary rate increases in first class and air mail will take effect Sunday, under the new Postal Reorganization Act, according to Maurice Hogan, Sedalia postmaster.

The new rates will raise first class letter charges from 6 to 8 cents, airmail letter rates from 10 to 11 cents, post cards from 5 to 6 cents and airmail post cards from 8 to 9 cents.

The rates have been authorized on a temporary basis until the newly created Postal Rate Commission can make recommendations to the governors of the Postal Service on permanent changes.

In addition to increases in first class rates, second and third class mail will also be more expensive Sunday, according to Hogan.

Hogan said the new temporary rates make changes in other postage rate categories and service fees, such as special delivery and registered mail.

When domestic changes go into effect, Hogan said, there will be conforming letter rate increases to Canada and Mexico.

This is the first general postage rate increase since 1967 when Congress passed what was to become its final legislative act concerning mail rates, according to Hogan.

"Besides the 150th anniversary of Missouri statehood 8-cent stamp," Hogan said, "the post office also has the new 8-cent Eisenhower and 8-cent flag stamp and plenty of 1-cent and 2-cent stamps for persons who may have a quantity of 6-cent stamps."

Accidents

WARSAW — Six men required hospital treatment after an accident at the Truman Dam and Reservoir project near here Monday afternoon.

According to a spokesman for List N. Clark, for whom the men worked, William E. Van Sickle, Osceola, was the only one of the six who did not return to work.

The accident apparently occurred when lightning struck a steel wire being used by the men to haul a metal beam to a bridge.

Treated at Bothwell Hospital in Sedalia were Charles Stemberger, Tipton; Keith Johnson, Warsaw; Larry Johnson, Lincoln; Charles Manning, Warsaw; Fred Quigley, Warsaw, and Van Sickle were treated at Wetzel Hospital, Clinton.

According to John Reser, Benton County coroner, the men were knocked unconscious by the force of the lightning.

Magistrate Court

William Howard Blakely, LaMonte, was fined $50 each on three charges in Pettis County Magistrate Court Thursday. Blakely has appealed his case to Circuit Court.

The charges stem from the March 1 car-truck collision at the intersection of West Main Street Road and Highway 50 in which Ronald C. Gulick, Belvedere, Ill., and Miss Nancy Jean Barrett, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., were killed. Gulick was employed at the Whiteman AFB.

According to the Highway Patrol, the two were killed when their eastbound Volkswagen, which was apparently being driven by Gulick, collided with a pick-up truck driven by Blakely.

Blakely was admitted to Bothwell Hospital after the accident.

Circuit Court

Ethel W. Anderson was granted a divorce from Albert Anderson Thursday.

Carol Jane Robinson was granted a divorce from Philip R. Robinson in Circuit Court Wednesday.

Soldiers Following Pioneers

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Twenty-four Green Beret soldiers will set out Friday on a 3,000-mile expedition from Illinois to Oregon, retracing the exploratory voyage 167 years ago of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark.

The Green Berets from Ft. Bragg will begin their voyage up the Missouri and Columbia rivers on the anniversary of the start of the Lewis and Clark expedition.

They will travel in Army assault boats powered by oars. They expect to make a voyage of four months.

The original expedition, which included mapping and surveys of the northwestern states to the Pacific Ocean, took more than 17 months.

The soldiers, all volunteers for the training mission, are to parachute into East Alton, Ill., today.

When they complete their voyage to the Lewis and Clark Memorial Site at Astoria, Ore., they will be joined by state officials for a plaque-laying ceremony.

Enemy Blasts Nixon

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam accused President Nixon today of ruining chances for peace in Vietnam after the United States had agreed to halt bombing of the North late in 1968.

North Vietnamese Minister of State Xuan Thuy, speaking to newsmen before the opening of the 113th plenary session of the Vietnam peace talks, recalled that the Nov. 1, 1968, bombing halt had been agreed to in talks between him and Ambassador Averell Harriman, Lyndon B. Johnson was president at the time.

"Efforts for peace made by Mr. Harriman and me were, unfortunately fought by Mr. Nixon," Thuy said. "He violated the agreement for an unconditional halt in the bombing and other acts of war against the North."

Thuy said Nixon must take all the responsibility for the stalemate in the talks, which today entered their fourth year. The talks began May 13, 1968, between Hanoi and Washington, and were expanded the following January to include the Viet Cong and South Vietnam.

Nguyen Van Tien, replacing Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh today at the head of the Viet Cong delegation, repeated the Communist demand for the United States to announce a date for complete withdrawal from South Vietnam. He said that if the United States had agreed to set June 30 as the withdrawal date, "the question of a cease-fire between the Popular armed forces of liberation and the American Army in South Vietnam, security for the withdrawing American troops and the question of captured soldiers could already have been settled."

He called on the United States to set another "reasonable" departure date and said the "appropriate settlement" of this question could open new perspectives for peace.

Neither U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce, present head of the American delegation, nor Ambassador Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam made statements to newsmen as they entered the conference room. Mrs. Binh is meeting with Hungarian officials in Budapest.

Ichord To Speak At Rolla Tonight

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., speaks at the University of Missouri-Rolla tonight—the apparent victor in a dollar battle with peace activist David Dellinger.

University officials and the Student Union agreed to pay Ichord $800 for the speech, the same they paid Dellinger. Ichord has pledged the money to a needy and deserving scholarship student for his education next year.

Ichord had originally agreed to speak for free, but changed his mind when he learned the school had paid Dellinger $800 out of student activity fees. Ichord demanded the same fee, to be used for a scholarship. He was first given a counter-offer of $600, then the full $800 commitment Wednesday.

Ichord said he does not oppose Dellinger speaking, but is opposed to using student activity funds to "pay him for the privilege of speaking."

Lebanon Proud of Jazz Band

LEBANON, Mo. (AP) — The Ozarks, home of folk and country music, now has given birth to a group of "jazz babies" who have their hearts set on being recognized as the best in the United States.

The 14 boys and six girls, formally compose the Lebanon High School jazz band. The band is one of only seven in the United States selected by jazz experts to compete at the prestigious Montreaux, Switzerland, International Jazz Festival this summer. The other six groups are from metropolitan areas.

There appears little doubt in Lebanon, a closely knit Ozark city of 9,000, that "Their" band will be judged the best.

"We've got this spirit or pride or something," declared Rick Weaver, lead trombonist.

"If we win, we'll get to go back again next year as a featured band," explains Jeff Hancock, student body president and guitarist.

Now, the band members who range from 15 to 18 years of age, together with their director, Vern Rolle, other school officials, and their parents are busy trying to raise $12,000 by June 13 for the trip.

The band is playing dance dates, rehearsing at least three times a week, washing cars, pruning shrubbery, babysitting, mowing lawns, painting porches, cleaning pastures of rocks and dead trees.

Their parents and civic clubs, meanwhile, are holding pancake days, chili suppers, benefit nights at movies and other fund raising projects.

"Sure people tell us we have rapport with the kids," says Rolle, 28. "But the point is the credit has to be shared."

"This is a fantastic organization, but it's fantastic because of parent and community support, even the support of kids who tried for this band and didn't make it."

Lebanon has turned out award winning marching and jazz bands since the early 1960s. The jazz band backed former trumpeter Clark Terry at the National Music Directors Association meeting in 1970.

Stan Kenton brought his big band to Lebanon for a clinic this spring.

"Kenton's musicians worked on a 1-to-1 basis with our kids," said Rolle. "Kenton has made his charts (musical arrangements) available to us. So has Clark Terry. It's fantastic."

Rolle says "I keep telling the kids that the big city kids can take a lesson a week from a professional and maybe have other advantages, but our kids want first place or forget it."

"When I came here two years ago," Rolle continued, "I was surprised the department has an attic full of second place trophies it never shows. I was critical of the kids for this at first."

"But now I'm getting that way, too. Shoot for the moon. Be the best."

Jerry Hoover, Rolle's predecessor, is credited with making the breakthrough in interest and providing a good foundation at Lebanon. But Dr. Rae Foelich, a three-time band parent put it this way:

"A band is always a mirrored reflection of its director. We have been lucky to have had two of the best."

Polly's Pointers

Sewing Instructions Are Easy to Obtain

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. L. M. wanted to know where she could obtain free sewing instructions. Several companies offer free booklets of instructions and there usually are leaflets with helpful sewing hints at the pattern counters of stores. Write your congressman and he will send you a list of booklets on most any subject, including sewing. These can be ordered for a few cents each. Also write to sewing machine companies and keep on trying. Sewing is fun and saves about one-half, and sometimes more, on the family clothing budget. —MRS. C.M.M.

DEAR GIRLS — If you hesitate to bother your busy congressman, booklets can be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. The Department of Agriculture compiles such books and the prices may vary from one to another. I paid 25 cents for one called "Simplified Clothing Construction." —POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I wish some reader would tell me how to remove old chocolate stains from a nice appliqued quilt. —JULIA

DEAR POLLY and MRS. L. M. — If you can read, you can learn to sew. I have made formal, suits and even upholstery with nary a lesson. When I bought a new machine, the instruction book that came with it gave details for using the machine. First, choose a fabric that has enough body to be easy to work with and then start with patterns that plainly state they are for easy sewing. Follow their layout for the pattern pieces on the fabric and then their detailed sewing and assembly instructions, step by step. Make a blouse, or house dress first. Remember, the smaller the article, the harder it is to make. The hardest part is that first cut and after that it seems easier. Happy sewing! —MRS. C. M.

Mix and Match Legware For Total Fashion Look

AP NEWSFEATURES

In today's fashion scene, your wardrobe can be as varied as your whims. And for each new look there's the right kind of legwear.

According to a major stocking manufacturer, the fabric sets the mood. For example, a simple little shirtdress looks quite different in a slinky, shiny fabric than it does in denim.

In the same way, bold or exotic prints project a different air from thick, nubby tweeds. The function of hosiery is to be part of that mood, whatever it may be.

Here's how to add a touch of excitement or subtle flattery with contrasting or complementary legwear:

For slinky, shiny fabrics, your best bet in stockings or pantyhose are sheer colors, glitter and shiny yarns.

Lightweight fabrics such as matte jerseys or crepes should be paired with a matching matte look in sheer or semi-opaque hose in delicate textures.

Thick knots go best with opaques, either in color or neutral shades, or with classic knee-highs in ribs, cables, argyles, semi-opaques and heathers.

For the understated look of rustic fabrics—denim, canvas, poplin or corduroy—try a mix 'n match effect with complementary or contrasting opaques, heathers, classic patterns and knee-highs.

Remember, also. Each item of hosiery is an investment in fashion. To protect that investment, follow these wash and wear tips:

Pay careful attention to size instructions on each package. Most packages now carry a height weight chart.

Don't readjust the fabric if you can't get a right fit. Slip the pantyhose back to your ankles and start over. If they were too long, don't pull quite so hard on the second try. If they were too short, stretch the fabric a bit more firmly as you work it over the thigh.

Always compensate for the fragility of ultra-sheer nylons by guarding against rough hands or nails when putting hosiery on. Never leave stockings on top of the bureau or carelessly subject them to contact with jewelry, car keys or other sharp objects.

Mrs. Warren M. Brown, Hutchinson, Kan., Supreme Worthy President of the Supreme Assembly, Social Order of the Beauceant, will visit Sedalia Assembly No. 23 at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Masonic Temple. Work of the Order will be exemplified during the session by Mrs. Charlie Pahlow, president of the assembly, and the officers. A dinner will be held that evening with the Sir Knights.

Knob Noster Eastern Star Has Guests

"Walk-in" Friendship Night was observed at the Thursday meeting of the Knob Noster Eastern Star Chapter. Members from the Eastern Star Chapters of the 36th District were present. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Reis serve as worthy matron and worthy patron of the Knob Noster Chapter.

Special guests were Mrs. Viola Coffman, Sedalia, past grand matron; John Owen, Warsaw, past grand patron; and Mrs. Myra Reser, Warsaw, district deputy grand matron of the 36th District.

Decorations were various shapes, sizes, and colors of cardboard shoes on the walls. The shoe is the worthy grand matron's symbol for the year. There were also bouquets of lilacs and white roses, her flower for the year.

The charter was draped for the late Mrs. Verna Atwell, who died May 2. Mrs. Reser was presented a gift from the chapter.

After the closing of the meeting a short program was given. Some of the members gave a skit emphasizing the worthy grand matron's motto, "Never judge another man until you've walked a mile in his shoes." Lloyd Parker was the soloist.

Enemy Expands Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese are expanding a vital gasoline pipeline feeding their supply of truck traffic through Laos, military sources report.

The Communists are said to be building a new pipeline leg from the port city of Quang Khe toward the Bankrai Pass opening into the Ho Chi Minh Trail complex.

U.S. officials say the new section, paralleling Route 137, will give the North Vietnamese a third main outlet for pumping truck fuel south. The other two go through the Mu Gia Pass and across the Laotian border northwest of the demilitarized zone.

So far, sources say, the new leg extends only about seven miles south of Quang Khe, one of the key coastal points where small tankers tie directly into the pipeline and storage tanks ashore.

The segment is expected to be finished in time for the next big Communist supply push in the fall.

The pipeline expansion is one of a number of signs North Vietnam is making strong efforts to keep open, and improve, its remaining supply channel to Communist forces in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

U.S. intelligence estimates as many as 70,000 North Vietnamese troops are staying in the Laotian panhandle during the rainy season, now setting in.

This is an increase of about 15,000 over last rainy season, the first in which the North Vietnamese kept a major logistics force in the panhandle to repair the roads.

Sources said a considerable part of the manpower increase includes weapons crews manning strengthened antiaircraft defenses along the road network.

U.S. authorities said South Vietnamese troops severed the pipeline at various places during the six-week invasion against the Ho Chi Minh trail last February and March.

The pipe is designed for easy and quick repair. Each 19-foot section, if ruptured, can be disconnected and replaced in a few minutes, U.S. experts say.

The four-inch-diameter pipe, though mostly above ground, is a tough target for U.S. bombers.

The North Vietnamese apparently realize permanent pumping stations would make the line vulnerable to air attacks. So they use portable, truck-mounted pumps. The system is believed capable of carrying up to 350,000 gallons a day, but American military authorities doubt it is operated at full capacity.

In effect, the North Vietnamese operate gas stations all along the Ho Chi Minh trail where they tap into the pipeline to refuel their trucks. At the low end of the line, 55-gallon drums are filled with gasoline for trucking still further southward.

Injuries Fatal To Student

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A 15-year-old Linn Creek, Mo. girl, Christine Brawner, died Wednesday night at a Springfield hospital from injuries received Tuesday in a car-school bus accident on U.S. 54 near Linn Creek.

At least 27 others were injured in the crash.

Miss Brawner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burke Brawner of Linn Creek, suffered head injuries when the car in which she was riding and the school bus collided.

The highway patrol reported the school bus pulled onto the highway from a side road into the path of the car.

The driver of the bus, 67-year-old James Hedrick, of Montreal, Mo. was charged by the highway patrol with failure to yield the right of way.

An additional six students came in for treatment at the Camdenton Medical Center Wednesday, raising to 28 the number injured in the accident.

New Start on Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's family-assistance plan for reforming the welfare system, which fell by the congressional wayside last year, has been given a new, running start.

The House Ways and Means Committee has included essentials of the plan—substantial federal takeover of welfare and a $2,400 income assurance for a family of four—in a mammoth Social Security-welfare reform measure.

Approved Wednesday except for a final review of language and formal vote, the measure is expected to go to the House for consideration early next month.

When fully effective in 1973 the big bill would pump an additional $6 billion to Social Security pensioners and welfare recipients.

The Social Security portion would require a sizable hike in payroll tax collected from employees and employers, though not as stiff as the committee tentatively approved earlier.

Through increases both in the wage base and the tax rate, the bill would raise the maximum payment by an employee and his employer from this year's $405.60 each to $550.80 in 1972. The maximum increase would apply only to those earning $10,200 or more.

Committee spokesmen said the states could expect to save $1.5 billion to $2 billion of the money now expended on welfare.

The fiscal relief would fall unevenly on the states, depending principally on how generous their present welfare programs are.

But a last-minute tailoring assured the dozen large, heavily paying states protection against increases in their expenditures above the 1971 level caused by addition of the working poor and natural growth of the relief rolls.

The government would take over in stages the cost of welfare for the indigent aged, blind and disabled.

Learning Device Installed

A New Experience

Quiet relaxation and fun can be a part of piano instruction when using a new electronic piano lab. The students and instructors at State Fair Community

A piano lab has been added to State Fair Community College and special attention can now be given to students interested in learning that phase of music.

According to Mrs. Carl Schrader, SFCC music instructor, "We've been working for this lab for two years and are excited at the results."

The lab, consisting of six student pianos connected electrically to an instructor's piano, has been installed in the music room of the college.

"Although the lab was a federal fund project for last year, funds were not received until this year," said Dr. Stephen Poort, Dean of Academic Affairs. Low bid of $4,800 was by Shaw Music Co. of Sedalia owned by Gary Schwartz.

Full use of the lab will begin this summer with the initiation of class piano. Instructor for the summer class will be Miss Joan Baker.

Second Grade Class Meets Environment Problems Headon

By CATHY BINDERUP
Youth Editor

"People are just lazy," "We want the sky blue and the grass green." These are the strong opinions of members of the second grade class of Miss Barbara Freund at Heber Hunt School.

The 26 children of this class began work several weeks ago on the pollution problem facing the earth.

"Student interest in the problem is remarkable," said Miss Freund. "I began the unit because it is my feeling that if we are to eliminate the problems confronting our environment, we are going to have to make the young aware," she continued.

"We do things in Sedalia," was another comment. "We make posters on pollution and have written letters to the important people."

According to Miss Freund, the children felt that they should go to the "important people" about the pollution problem. They wrote letters to their senators, congressmen, the governor, the mayor and finally the President of the United States.

Replies were received from all but the President. "It is nice to know young people are being made aware of the problems and challenges we as a nation face," was Mayor Jerry Jones' reply. "...always maintain your faith in the Genius of the American People," he continued.

Letters thanking the students for their interest in the environment problems were also received from Representative Joe Rains, Gov. Warren Hearnes, Senators Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton, and Missouri Senator Ike Skelton.

With the beginning of the pollution unit in March, the students organized a Hunt Litter Patrol. Twice each day two students collect the litter from the Heber Hunt School grounds. Each wears a special litter badge and the waste baskets are filled to the top with trash. The young environmentalists take their recess time to pick up the trash which has been thrown around the school.

When asked what some solutions to the problems might be, responses were numerous. "We should vote that factories shouldn't dump their stuff," was one solution.

In addition to the patrol, litter frogs were made from

Children's Decision Should Be Their Own

Dear Ann Landers: Grandpa is 82 years old and very ill. He will probably not live more than a month. Our children love Grandpa and they keep asking if they can go to the nursing home to see him. We have told the children that Grandpa sleeps most of the time and he should not be disturbed. The truth is that he has lost so much weight we are afraid the children would be frightened if they saw him. Also, Grandpa is sedated most of the time and has not recognized any of us for several days.

The question has now arisen as to whether the children should be permitted to go to the funeral. (It will be a closed casket.) They are 9, 6, 5. Please advise us. — Heavy Hearted Mother.

Dear Mother: If the children express the wish to go to Grandpa's funeral, allow them to do so. If they don't want to go, don't try to persuade them. The decision should be theirs.

A funeral can help children accept the finality of death. It affords them an opportunity to share a family experience and to see that adults, too, express honest emotions without shame. It can also serve to reduce anxiety and fear which children often associate with the unknown.

Dear Ann Landers: I am seriously considering a man who tells me, "When we marry, I will not go out of my way to form any personal relationships with other women, but if I should run into the opportunity, I would not pass it up."

What kind of man is this???? He says he would not blame me if I did the same. I need your opinion in a hurry. — Washington, D.C.

Dear Wash: I admire the guy's honesty. He is telling you in advance he doesn't give a damn about faithfulness — his or yours.

This would be no marriage, dearie. It would be a legal merger with pre-sanctioned, two-way cheating privileges.

His statement proves something I've been saying for a long time. Every woman can get married — if she sets her standards low enough.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married for 21 years, we have no children, and I've worked as a secretary for an executive of one of the Big Three auto manufacturers in Detroit.

I am entitled to four weeks vacation this summer but my husband feels that he can take only one full week because of the nature of his work. I am toying with the idea that perhaps I ought to go to Europe with the Girl's Club. (It's for employees only.) The trip would be three weeks. I have never been to Europe and I'd love to go. But I keep wondering if it would be right to leave my husband. I am beset by fears. How will he manage? I do everything for him — clothes, cooking, etc. What would you do? — D. Troit.

Sees Troop Level Steady in Orient

TOKYO (AP) — The commander of U.S. forces in Japan said today he believes American military strength in Japan and South Korea will remain at a level of about 70,000 men because of tensions in Asia.

"I think you have seen about all the drawdown you are going to see in Korea and Japan," Air Force Lt. Gen. Gordon M. Graham told the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan.

There are now 30,800 U.S. servicemen in Japan. In South Korea, the troop withdrawal schedule calls for a reduction to 43,000 men by July 1.

Food Regulations By FDA Overdue

The Food and Drug Administration is finally getting around to at least considering a regulation to make certain processed food companies list all of the ingredients on their labels.

Significantly, the proposed regulation did not come from the FDA, but rather from a group of consumer-oriented law students called LABEL — Law Students Association For Buyers' Education and Labeling.

The FDA is publishing the proposed changes for a 60-day comment period. It's a safe bet that the food lobby will have plenty of comment as to why the regulations shouldn't be adopted. We hope the public interest is equally well represented.

The average consumer probably thinks that everything he is eating is itemized under the list of ingredients on the label. Not so. There are innumerable food additives that the FDA excuses from label listing, for one unfathomable reason or another.

For instance caffeine. This is a prime ingredient in cola drinks, but repeated efforts to get caffeine listed on containers have been thwarted, mainly by industry pressure. Yet caffeine is under scrutiny by scientists who suspect it of having a role in heart disease.

Persons with allergies to caffeine and other chemicals that are routinely poured into our foods without label listing have no way of protecting themselves under current FDA regulations.

Another important provision of the proposed regulation would require the listing of the cholesterol content in foods. This is vital information in the war against heart disease, and it is nothing short of scandalous that such regulations have not been in effect before now.

Unconstitutional Aid

Passage by the Missouri House of a "shared time" bill that would provide state aid to pupils in non-public schools could be the first step in creating a dangerous precedent.

The bill allows tax money to be used to purchase for non-public school students such services as crossing guards, remedial reading, special training for the handicapped, audio-visual aids and guidance counseling.

Because such aid would be directed for specific uses of non-public school students does not make it any the less AID to such institutions, and therefore unconstitutional in Missouri.

South Carolina's Supreme Court recently addressed itself to this very problem in unanimously forbidding state aid to non-public schools in the form of "tuition grants."

The court wrote that the state statute (similar to Missouri's) "does not attempt to distinguish between aid which is designed primarily to benefit the religious function of a school and that which is designed primarily to benefit the school in other capacities...If the use of the public funds aids the religious institution, it is prohibited."

The issue in Missouri is not whether non-public school pupils need and deserve such services — obviously they do — but rather that they must be obtained from a public school if the taxpayers are going to be asked to pay for them.

INTERCONTINENTAL BALLISTIC MISSILES

No Room For Dissenters In Communist Societies

NEW YORK (NEA) — Revolutionary "dissent" is easy and safe to practice in a democratic society.

It is different in the Marxist-Leninist dictatorships. Treason is the name of the game there.

In the United States, young extremists who refrain from acts of violence roam the streets of Washington, shout obscenities, browbeat timid congressmen and intimidate government workers.

Dennen

Thousands of students, young workers and intellectuals now languish in Soviet Russia's lunatic asylums, jails and concentration camps because they dared voice their disagreement with the Kremlin's rulers.

Nevertheless, a majority of the young extremists preach the Marxist-Leninist doctrines — although many of them come from wealthy families and are what the French call "fils a papa" (rich man's son).

They are quick to protest against real or imaginary restrictions on freedom in democratic society, but are strangely tolerant of the regimented life in the Communist countries. Bored with affluence, their sworn objective is the destruction of capitalist society.

A large section of the radical left wing youth therefore regard Soviet Russia, which ostensibly established

"communism" in accordance with Marxist-Leninist precepts, as their natural political ally.

Is this regard mutual and does Moscow appreciate these sentiments?

There was a time when the Kremlin leaders regarded the New Left in the United States and elsewhere in the West as a "revolutionary potential" capable of embarrassing the capitalist democracies.

Now their attitude is ambivalent. They seem to have realized belatedly that any "revolutionary youth movement that Moscow is not in a position to control fully can also be a threat to the internal stability of the Communist countries.

In other words, although the Soviet leaders view the disruptive activities of the left-wing extremists in Western societies with satisfaction, they are also apprehensive lest the "anarchist" contagion spread to their own sphere of influence.

Thus, the ultra-leftists are now berated for having abandoned the Marxist-Leninist concept of the class struggle.

"There is nothing new about the ideas of the New Left," writes T. Yemelyanov in Literaturnaya Gazetta. They were advanced by Bakunin, Nechayev and other Russian anarchists in the last century.

Bakunin was the father of the slogan that "the passion to destroy is a creative passion." And it was the murderously intolerant Nechayev who preached in his famous catechism:

"The revolutionary despises public opinion and all pretensions to morality. Everything that glorifies revolution is moral to him. Everything that interferes with it is immoral and unjust." Sound familiar?

Lenin borrowed many of Bakunin's and Nechayev's terrorist methods when he was creating his Communist dictatorship.

However, once in power he soon realized that anarchism was a greater threat to his regimented totalitarian society than to the Western democracies.

The Soviet attitude towards Western radical left-wing youth resembles the position of a man who watches with malicious satisfaction as the house of an enemy burns. He is even prepared to add fuel to the flames. But he is at the same time apprehensive lest the fire spread to his own property.

Health Risk Men Worried

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The private health insurance industry is angered and frustrated by what it considers a wild accusation from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that a proposed national health insurance plan would give it a financial bonanza.

"It is very difficult in group health insurance to find a profit of even one per cent," said J. Henry Smith, president of Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States. "If we could find that it would look very big to us."

Smith said, "We're campaigning to put our story to the public and Congress. We're trying to see a better balanced position than has been put forth." But, he added, "I am naive in ways of the political world."

Some industry officials fear the Kennedy-Griffith proposal for a national health security plan is not only a new insurance mechanism but an attack on the existing private enterprise insurance industry.

The Kennedy-Griffith plan would be underwritten by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare through a federal health security board and state health agencies.

If enacted, Smith said, it could mean the loss of 200,000 jobs by private insurers, and tens of thousands more in Blue Cross and Blue Shield. "It is a matter of which way the country will go," he said in an interview.

"Sen. Kennedy's propaganda and techniques of holding hearings ends up with a badly unbalanced presentation of the opportunities and alternatives," he said. "It is not a very fair system."

The private industry, about 45 per cent of which is nonprofit, supports the Burleson-McIntyre health care proposal, which was developed by the industry and which would be underwritten by private carriers.

It believes the Kennedy-Griffith proposal would result in a costly federal bureaucracy erected from scratch, while ignoring the expertise and facilities developed over the years by private industry.

"The opposition makes two points," Smith said. "First, that health insurance is a windfall for the industry. This is just unrealistic."

"Second, that the insurance mechanism of the country — Blue Cross and the private insurers — has not succeeded in holding down the cost of health care, and so has lost its claim to efficiency."

"The second argument is much more logical than the one on profits. We are under an obligation to defend ourselves here."

"Does this mean," Smith was asked, "that the charge of inefficiency has merit?"

"No," he replied. "In the early days of health insurance, the companies did not look upon themselves as policemen." Neither did Blue Cross, he said, but both are willing to accept that responsibility now.

The problem of rising costs crept up, Smith said, because of the fight for wage equality, advances in technology, and the inefficient use of hospital space and beds by patients who could have been treated as outpatients.

"But it is unfair to say we've failed or were less effective than the government. Nobody has succeeded. Costs have gone up in other countries where the government is the insurer. And Medicare costs have gone up very rapidly."

Smith conceded that there was a growing feeling in the country that health care is "a right so sacred that nobody should make any money out of it" and that anyone who attempted to do so was "a leech."

He and many others in the industry believe in a philosophy that views profit as the incentive and reward for efficiency, as the control on waste. And they assert that competition assures the lowest prices

Predictions For Budget Boggle Mind

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ten years from now, the federal budget very likely will touch an incredible new milestone: $400 billion. In government, the zero is going to be the most overworked figure on the typewriter keyboard.

BLOSSAT

On the way to that fiscal stratosphere, we probably will pass the $300-billion budget level in the year starting July 1, 1975. A new Brookings Institution budget study sees outlays for that year hitting a point just $5 billion below that level.

The public finance experts in and out of government really haven't got around to detailed budget projections for 1981 and beyond. But their calculations for the next five years give us the astonishing clues.

For fiscal 1972, coming up in July, the U.S. budget is supposed to weigh in around the $230-billion mark. Spending trends in Congress may make that total look conservative by late this year.

If we are going to gallop past $300 billion in the succeeding four years, then a rise of another $100 billion in the following five seems a cautious forecast.

What's the point of borrowing 1981's money troubles when we've got enough in 1971?

For one thing, it's a way of driving home the fact that arguments over "big government" — as measured in money terms — are largely dead. The old days are gone when a conservative might be defined as a man who wanted to spend $10 billion a year less than his liberal counterpart.

It was President Nixon, Republican, who presided over the first $200-billion budget. Should he win again in 1972, he will be the one to push us past $300 billion, and in his final year in the White House he would set the stage for the next breakthrough.

So, no realist in either party is trying to say nowadays that there is any way to get away from the sweeping money hurricane.

About all the President or anybody else can do to keep from getting dizzy over the developing figures is to put what's going on in some perspective.

The comfortable, and fortunately quite accurate, thing to say is that these enormous present and future federal budgets are not out of proportion when set against the country's economic backdrop. We now have a Gross National Product of around a trillion dollars. Brookings thinks it will be close to $1.6 trillion in fiscal 1976. By 1981 it probably will be upwards of $2 trillion.

This projected economic growth is expected to produce rather lush federal tax revenues which will make the soaring budgets bearable. For instance, Brookings' new study predicts tax receipts of $312 billion in fiscal 1976. That would yield a good surplus even with $300 billion in outlays.

With these long strings of zeroes floating around like soap bubbles, it is very difficult for some of the nation's more ambitious social programmers to realize established programs will go on getting the lion's share of bigger and bigger budgets.

Social Security, Medicare (soon to be superseded by general health insurance), education, welfare, these are the entrenched claimants — huge and growing. They all have built-in escalators based on rising population.

To talk of turning up really big money for large new programs is to talk of either substantial tax increases or very heavy cuts in defense outlays — or both. In the National Urban Coalition's energetic blueprint called "Counterbudget," both would be needed to support a proposed 1976 budget of $353 billion.

But this presumes defense slashes down to $50 billion a year outlay. Sober-sided Brookings sees defense rising from $76 billion to $88 billion by 1976.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Italy brought a new team to play for them in the 1970 World's championship. They were nervous at the start. When they played us in the third round they were ready. They proceeded to take an early lead when Riccardo Tersch and Enrico Cesati bid to six no-trump.

Tersch's two clubs was rather like JACOBY MODERN in that it was artificial and forcing. North's response was positive and showed a spade suit while Tersch's two no-trump rebid showed specifically 20 or 21 points and a no-trump type hand. Cesati added 13 to 20 and bid six no-trump.

All Tersch had to do was knock out the ace of clubs and cash his 12 good tricks to score 1,440 points for Italy. At the other table Bobby Goldman opened one diamond. His hand wasn't quite strong enough to warrant a two-club call in their methods. From then on the bidding went forward nicely, but unfortunately the club suit was mentioned and they found their 4-4 fit to land at six clubs.

We can't fault them for this. Normally there is a decided advantage in finding a sound 4-4 fit. This time it didn't work out. There was no way for Billy Eisenberg to avoid losing two trump tricks when West showed up with all five trumps. Italy took a 17 IMP lead.

Cuellar Blanks KC on One Hit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Cuellar said it perfectly. "Mas vale mana que fuerza," was the way the Cuban-born left-hander described his 6-0 one-hitter over the Kansas City Royals.

Wednesday night.

The Spanish phrase means, "cleanliness accomplishes more than force," and in Cuellar's case it was true. He faced just 29 K.C. batters and threw 85 pitches, while allowing just two men to reach base—Jerry May on a looping single to center in the third inning, and Bob Oliver on a walk in the seventh.

And according to Orioles' catcher Elrod Hendricks, Cuellar did his best work without a fast ball.

"He picked up his fast ball about the third inning," Hendricks said in the locker room.

Scholarship Honors Ex-KU, Chief Star

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sports figures from the past and present have started a scholarship in honor of Curtis McLinton, the retired Chiefs player—and former University of Kansas star.

The scholarship is designed to benefit young athletes who, like McLinton, show an interest in business.

"Until then he was throwing mostly screwballs."

"But remember, he has two kinds of screwballs," pitching coach George Bamberger added. "I've always said the key to Mike's pitching is the change of speed. They really louse the batters up."

So Cuellar didn't have blazing speed Wednesday night, but he certainly did have control as he brought his season record to 3-1. He threw 56 strikes past Kansas City batters.

The Orioles got Cuellar the only run he really needed in the second. Merv Rettenmund, on a hitting streak of late, connected with a triple and scored on a Hendricks' single against starter and loser Mike Hedlund, 3-2.

Over the past two games, Rettenmund has gone 7 for 9 and raised his average from .196 to .277.

Brooks Robinson's run-scoring single in the fifth made it 2-0, and the birds put the game out of reach with a four-run salvo in the seventh.

But it was Cuellar's night, as he pitched his first one-hitter since August of 1969.

"He really kept with it," Hendricks said of the Wednesday night performance.

Cuellar, however, wasn't so easily pleased. "We try to do better next time," he winked.

Fiene Hurls No-Hit Win in Tournament

KINGSVILLE — Pitcher John Fiene hurled a no-hit, shutout win for the Mike O'Connor softball team of Sedalia Wednesday night and advanced the squad into the winners' bracket of the Kingsville Softball Tournament.

In tossing the 8-0 victory over Western Electric of Lee's Summit, Fiene faced the minimum number of 21 batters.

Tom Hunter, Herb Ford and "Bones" Harvey collected two hits each in the victory.

O'Connors will now face B-L Electric of Clinton in a semifinal game Saturday at 3:30 p.m.

In other action, Houstonia Hamms lost to Whiteman AFB, 3-0, and fell into the losers' bracket.

NHL Teams Seek To End Deadlock

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks, champions of the National Hockey League's West Division, have not lost three straight games all season—a rather enviable record of which they are justifiably proud.

But to keep it intact, they'll have to turn off Montreal's sizzling Canadiens in tonight's fifth game of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup championship series.

The Hawks got off in the driver's seat in this series, winning the first two games at home and jumping off to a 2-0 lead in Game Three. But suddenly the Canadiens came alive, sweeping from behind to win that third game and then completely dominating the fourth contest to square the best-of-seven series.

Montreal's spark was lit by tall Pete Mahovich, who scored a tower of strength for Les Habitants. He, and his older brother, Frank, have become heroes to the Montreal fans, who've been more accustomed to cheering Frenchmen like Richard, Geoffrion and Beliveau in the past.

Frank Mahovich, with 13 playoff goals so far, has tied the single season Cup record set last year by Boston's Phil Esposito. He is just three points short of Esposito's 27 playoff points, also a record.

But kid brother Pete has caused Chicago plenty of aggravation too. Three of his nine playoff goals have come in this series and his aggressive play has led to other Montreal scores as well.

Take, for example, a first period Chicago power play with the Canadiens leading 2-1 in Game Four. Pete, out killing the penalty, stole the puck and forced Chicago defenseman Rick Foley into a holding penalty that wiped out the Hawks' manpower edge. Moments later, Montreal's Guy Lapointe scored.

Later, Peter and Frank both assisted on Yvan Cournoyer's second goal of the game. And both were involved in late-game scuffles, Pete with little Lou Angotti and Frank with big Jerry Korab.

The aggressions exploded in several late-game bouts in Game Four which resulted in six major penalties, five misconducts. But Billy Reay, Chicago's coach, paid little mind to the fights.

Avila Confident In Canonero's Saturday Race

BALTIMORE (AP) — Back from a tumultuous welcome in Venezuela, where he received a congressional medal and met with the president, jockey Gustavo Avila is seeking new racing honors in the United States.

Looming directly ahead, of course, is Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness, and Avila is confident Canonero II can win the second of the Triple Crown races as he did the Kentucky Derby.

Then, after some riding in New York including the Belmont Stakes, Avila likely will return to Venezuela. But he'd prefer pursuing his career in the U.S.

"I would like to," the 31-year-old jockey said through an interpreter, "but no one has asked me. I guess I should learn English first."

Canonero II, rated no better than fourth in the probable Preakness odds despite his Derby victory, was to be officially entered today in the 1 3/16 mile classic.

Jim French and Bold Reason, the runner-up and third-place finisher in the Derby, got the jump on the rest of the field earlier in the week when their trainers telephoned Pimlico from New York to make it official.

State Fair Games Stopped By Rain

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. — Heavy rains in southern Missouri forced cancellation of the State Fair Community College, Three Rivers Junior College, doubleheader here.

Coach Foster McGuire and the Roadrunners were scheduled to play in Hillsboro, Mo. Thursday in a doubleheader against Jefferson College.

Friday SFCC is slated to tangle with Flat River Junior College in Flat River, Mo., before returning to Sedalia.

Utah Takes ABA Lead

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Good defense and good health, in that order, can give the Utah Stars the American Basketball Association championship, says Utah coach Bill Sharman.

Utah, leading the best-of-seven championship series 3-2 after a 137-127 victory Wednesday night, can wrap up the title before a national television audience Saturday, in Louisville.

A seventh game, if necessary, will be played Tuesday night in Salt Lake City, where Kentucky has yet to win this season.

Dan Issel of Kentucky continued his high scoring Wednesday night, getting 27 points in the first half and 33 for the game. But he got offensive help only from Cincy Powell, who scored 22.

Sharman attributed this to a defensive effort that held Kentucky guards Louie Dampier and Darel Carrier to 10 points between them in the first half and 21 for the game. Carrier's seven points was his lowest output of the series.

In Kentucky's overtime victory last Saturday, the two combined for 60 points.

Two Utah starters, Merv Jackson and Red Robbins, were ineffective in the two Kentucky victories—Robbins because of stomach flu and Jackson because of a sore left knee.

But Wednesday night, Jackson defended Carrier to the bench and scored 20 points, 13 in the second quarter. Robbins scored 16 and grabbed eight rebounds.

Robbins and Jackson played 31 minutes apiece, Jackson limping on a heavily taped left leg.

Utah center Zelmo Beatty pulled down 22 rebounds and scored 32 points to lead the Stars in both departments. Glen Combs and Ron Boone added 25 and 24, respectively, for the Stars.

Beatty's second-half scoring, which came with Issel on the bench much of the time, kept the contest out of Kentucky's reach.

Utah never trailed, running up leads of 34-25 after the first quarter, 75-56 at halftime, and 104-88 after the third period. They led by 20 at one point in the second half before Kentucky pulled to 132-125 on Powell's three-pointer with 35 seconds left.

"Powell left in the third period with a bloody eyebrow and elbow after a fight with Boone and Willie Wise of the Stars. He returned in the fourth period wearing band-aids.

The teams were nearly even in all categories except three-point shots, Kentucky's specialty. Utah hit five of eight compared with three of 11 for Kentucky.

Kentucky suffered a defensive lapse in the first half, when Utah hit 53 per cent, Colonels' Coach Frank Ramsey said.

Singing Pitcher Al Fitzmorris

eight of his 13 pitching decisions. Al also made his first 45 rpm record. What's more, he wrote both songs — "Locked In" and "Winds of My Life."

Now Kansas City area baseball fans will not only be able to see Fitzmorris perform in person, but they also have a chance to see him entertain with music.

Fitzmorris will be the lead singer with a group called Free Form which will perform at Municipal Stadium Friday night as part of the pre-game ceremonies at the Royals' first Teen Night.

The Teen Night fun will begin at 6 p.m. with The Classmen, a well-known rock band, in concert. The Classmen will play for 40 minutes, then Fitzmorris and Free Form will entertain until 7 p.m.

The game between the Royals and Oakland Athletics will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Royals also have selected cheerleaders for Teen Night, in a somewhat novel idea for baseball. The cheerleaders will be dressed in Hot Pants and a Royals' uniform blouse tied at the waist, and will lead cheers in the stands during the game.

The Teen Night contest is one highlight to Kansas City's 10-game homestand which begins Thursday night against the A's. Division-leading Oakland will be at Municipal Stadium for five games in all with another single game Saturday afternoon and the first home doubleheader on Sunday.

Chicago and Milwaukee are the other teams which will visit during the homestand.

Game Is Cancelled

Tuesday night's Mid-Missouri Softball League game between Ditzfeld Transfer and B-L Electric of Clinton was postponed due to rain.

Ditzfeld, who now stands at 0-4 for the season will take on O'Connor Chevrolet May 19 at Housel Park.

Disputed Call Gives Cubs Second Chance

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON, Associated Press Sports Writer

The burning question in Philadelphia is whether the Phillies were done in Wednesday night by three pitches that hit Chicago Cub bats or one pitch that didn't.

There may be different opinions on the matter. As far as the Cubs are concerned, home runs by Ron Santo, Johnny Callison and Billy Williams that accounted for six runs in a 9-4 triumph were the keys to victory.

The Phillies, however, contend that a ruling by umpire Tom Gorman that Jim Hickman checked his swing and did not foul tip a 3-2 pitch was as crucial as any of the homers.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston edged the New York Mets 5-4. San Diego nipped Pittsburgh 2-1. San Francisco trounced Cincinnati 7-2 and Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 5-0. St. Louis and Montreal were rained out.

American League scores: Minnesota 1, Boston 0; Oakland 8, Cleveland 1; Baltimore 6, Kansas City 0; Detroit 8, California 1; New York Yankees 3, Milwaukee 0 and the Chicago White Sox took two from Washington 5-0 and 9-5.

The Cubs and Phillies were scoreless in the fourth inning when the fireworks—physical and verbal—started. Williams singled with one out and then came the disputed fourth ball to Hickman. Joe Pepitone popped up for what the Phils thought should have been the third out, but Santo belted a three-run homer and Callison followed with a solo shot.

In the seventh, Glenn Beckert doubled three runs across and Williams homered. Santo, Callison and Williams also homered the previous night. Tony Taylor and Joe Lis connected for the Phils.

When Gorman called ball four on Hickman, with Williams running, catcher Mike Ryan exploded and he, pitcher Jim Bunning and manager Frank Lucchesi all screamed at the ump.

"He foul ticked it," roared Ryan. "I didn't hear anything," said Gorman as he waved Hickman to first base.

Houston unloaded on Mets' ace Tom Seaver for four runs in the sixth and the Astros hung on. Singles by Roger Metzger, Joe Morgan and Denis Menke snapped a scoreless duel between Seaver and Don Wilson. Doug Rader, with only one hit in his previous 32 trips, then lashed a three-run homer, his first of the year.

A two-base error by Cleon Jones and Morgan's single accounted for the decisive run in the seventh. Trailing 5-0, the Mets then battled back on seventh-inning homers by Ed Kranepool and Ken Boswell and got two more in the eighth before Fred Gladding shut the door.

They remained one game in front of Pittsburgh in the NL East, however, when San Diego shaded the Pirates on Dave Roberts' four-hit pitching and Ollie Brown's tie-breaking single.

Roberts hurled hitless ball over the final six innings after singles by Clarence Gaston, Nate Colbert and Brown snapped a 1-all tie in the third.

The Giants erupted for six runs in the second inning and went on to whip the floundering Reds as Ron Bryant spaced eight hits.

Loser Don Gullett walked Dick Dietz and Alan Gallagher around George Foster's single to set things up. Tito Fuentes singled the first run across and Hal Lanier doubled for two more. The others crossed on an error by Tony Perez, Frank Johnson's grounder and Ken Henderson's sacrifice fly. Johnny Bench homered for the losers.

Don Sutton held the Braves to four hits in gaining his first victory of the season. Richie Allen and Jim Lefebvre backed him with home runs and Willie Davis cracked a two-run single.

Winner of the tough East African Safari.

Performance—the missing element in many small cars—is spelled—"96 HP overhead cam engine." That means 0-60 in 14 seconds and plenty of freeway zing. Just what you might expect from the 4-Door that 1st, 2nd and 4th in the 1970 East African Rally.

Choose the standard all-synchromesh 4-speed stick, or the optional automatic. Add air conditioning, vinyl top, a stereo if you like, and slip off to the country.

You can go family plan in luxury. Four extra-wide-opening doors make getting in and out easy. Leather-like vinyl covers fully reclining front buckets. There's full carpeting, tinted glass, flow-through fresh air. A rugged, sound-proofed unibody. And a smooth ride on 4-wheel fully independent suspension.

It's a comfort knowing that nearly 1000 Datsun dealers across the land are ready to serve you.

NAACP Seeks Block on Executions

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund has asked the Supreme Court to block legal executions in the United States by considering at least one new legal attack on capital punishment.

Speaking for 27 of the 648 condemned prisoners the fund urged the court to schedule a hearing in any of the death cases or direct a lower court to take evidence on the contention that capital punishment itself is unconstitutional.

In a brief filed late Tuesday, the fund said the situation is "perilous" since the court has ruled out two procedural arguments that had caused a nationwide halt in executions since 1967.

Stays of execution in many of the 648 cases will now be dissolved, the fund said, and "executions are imminent." Additionally, the brief said, many of the prisoners do not have lawyers to help them try to avert execution.

The 26 men and one girl, teen-ager Marie Hill of Rocky Mount, N.C., are on death row in eight states, Alabama, California, Colorado, Nevada, New Jersey, North Carolina and Virginia.

In all there are 641 male prisoners and 7 females under death sentence in 33 states. About 135 have appeals pending in the court.

Earlier Tuesday, William A. Ralph, a 37-year-old delivery man who won a reprieve last December, appealed to the court in a case that may bring about a ruling on use of the death penalty for convicted rapists.

Ralph, convicted in 1961 of an attack on a Kensington, Md., woman, said he was entitled to a new trial because a confession used as evidence against him was not voluntary. The state of Maryland is now expected to file a cross-appeal, challenging the finding by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., that upset Ralph's death sentence.

The issue in this case is whether the Constitution prohibits the death penalty when a rape victim's life was neither "taken nor endangered."

There are 79 convicted rapists facing execution in 10 states.

The fund told the justices "it is surely imperative that no human life be extinguished until the fundamental questions that Ralph raises under the 8th Amendment are authoritatively resolved by this court."

The court last week decided state legislatures are not required to set standards to guide juries choosing between life and death. Also, the court held in the 6-3 ruling, capital trials need not be separated so that there is a distinct sentencing phase.

This removed the legal roadblock of hundreds of executions. However, none has been carried out so far.

The fund suggested a variety of legal arguments the court could consider. The more appropriate course, the lawyers said, was for the justices to direct a lower court to develop an "illuminating" record on the ultimate legal approach to capital punishment.

Other points raised for the 27 condemned prisoners included the scope of the 1968 ruling that opponents of capital punishment cannot be automatically excluded from juries, the use of the death penalty for rape and the allegation that Negroes stand a greater chance of being convicted for rape than white men.

The fund contended the New Jersey and North Carolina supreme courts as well as the U.S. appeals court in Denver had misread the 1968 ruling and permitted death sentences to stand because only a small number of people against capital punishment were excluded from jury service.

Secondly, the fund said, all death sentences imposed by juries set up contrary to the 1968 ruling should be reversed even if the sentences were imposed prior to the decision.

Third, the fund argued, at least four condemned prisoners were entitled to have their death sentences reversed because they pleaded guilty rather than face "juries stacked in favor of the death penalty."

The court has never agreed to hear argument on the applicability of the 8th Amendment to capital punishment.

Society Opposes Merger

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas Medical Society has gone on record as opposing a merger of Blue Shield with Blue Cross, insurance plans that pay for doctor's services and hospitalization costs.

Dr. Francis T. Collins, outgoing society president, said some Kansas physicians are dissatisfied with Blue Shield but the society would try to iron out any problems.

A resolution to withdraw the society's support of Blue Shield was tabled.

Collins, of Topeka, said the consensus is that physicians' services should be kept separate from hospital services.

Another resolution passed in the final day of the annual meeting Wednesday removes compulsory membership in the American Medical Association.

However, Collins said membership in the association is encouraged and the resolution does not reflect unfavorably on the AMA.

Dr. William J. Reals, a 50-year-old Wichita pathologist, assumed the presidency of the society as it concluded its 112th annual meeting.

Dr. Kenneth L. Graham, Leavenworth, became president-elect and Dr. Thomas F. Taylor, Salina, became first vice president.
